This watch is part of the artist collection and is designed by the artist Matthew Langille.

About the artist

Matthew Langille is a prolific young artist based in New York City, where he puts his boundless creative energy to work for global fashion houses and design firms.

He studied glass-blowing as a child, art installation in France, and ceramics and life drawing in the United States before turning to print-making and drawing in college. His clever, witty imagery exhibits a distinctively light-hearted style that sets him apart from the crowd. Matthew continues to develop as an artist while creating images, graphic and text designs, patterns and crayon drawings in the ever-changing space where art and fashion meet.
