Teach them to read the time with children's words

"Flik is taller and older than Flak, and that's why he can walk faster. He moves around the 60-minute sphere while his sister, Flak, moves more slowly because her legs are shorter, and she takes steps from hour to hour. They always run one after the other, and with each step they indicate the time.

Flak, the little girl, is the hour hand, which must be read first (because girls go first); then goes Flik, the older brother, who indicates the minutes. And then you will know the full hour!"

Each standard Flik Flak package contains a watch for children to play and learn to know the time.
